NEW MEXICO BULLETIN 260-7-1

SUBJECT: INF – EARTH TEAM

To: All Employees

Volunteer Week is April 15-21, and it is an opportune time to make your plans to thank your volunteers, and think about adding volunteers to assist in meeting your workloads.

Effective March 27, 2007 the NRCS New Mexico Earth Team responsibilities are assigned as follows:

Barbara Garrett, Program Manager
Rita Yarbrough, State Earth Team Coordinator
Doreen Padilla, Northwest Area Earth Team Coordinator
Elaine Padilla, Southwest Area Earth Team Coordinator
Debbie Scott, Southeast Area Earth Team Coordinator
Ramona Brooks, East Area Earth Team Coordinator

These individuals are available to answer your Earth Team volunteer questions, assist you in acquiring valued volunteers, aid in organizing group activities, and help you in thanking the volunteers you have.

It is the goal of the NRCS New Mexico Earth Team in 2007 to promote group activities that not only benefit our agency but our many communities. It is also our purpose to secure those individual volunteers who you value as significant assets to your offices.

The Earth Team program is available to benefit you and your office, and you are encouraged to take advantage of this excellent program.
